3. Aims and Principles

- 3.1 University of Bolton aims to support the strategic plan of the University. University of Bolton www.bolton.ac.uk/more/strategy-and-vision/.
- 3.2 Our goal is to provide high-quality, student focussed programmes which attract applications from all over the world and offer an exciting and challenging student experience with high levels of proactive student support and excellent facilities. This will be achieved by building an enriched community of staff, students and collaborators from a wide and diverse range of social and cultural backgrounds.
- 3.3 We therefore welcome applications from students regardless of their personal background who are able to demonstrate the talent and/or potential to benefit from one of our programmes. As such we are able to offer a range of traditional and alternative routes onto our programmes.
- 3.4 In order to achieve our strategic goals the University is committed to the following principles of recruitment and admissions:

By prior agreement with Head of the relevant Admissions Team and the Head of School e.g. in the case of PhD applications following initial assessment by the Research and Graduate School teacher training and courses involving work with young children and/or vulnerable adults. These entry requirements may include for example satisfaction of Disclosure and Barring Service checks, health screening, literacy and numeracy tests. These requirements are detailed with the course information provided on the University website www.bolton.ac.uk. Applicants will be advised if these or any other conditions apply when they are made an offer of a place.

- 7.9 Certain subjects require students to demonstrate particular competence standards before they can be accepted on to, progress within or successfully complete a course or programme of study. The Equality Act 2010 (Act) defines a competence standard as an academic, medical or other standard applied for the purpose of determining whether or not a person has a particular level of competence or ability.

In accordance with the Act, the University consults with students and makes a wide range of reasonable adjustments to its provisions, criteria and practices to accommodate the needs of disabled students throughout the student life-cycle from admission to graduation.

The University recognises that the application of a competence standard does not come under the definition of a provision, criterion or practice such that the Act does not require it to make reasonable adjustments to the standards themselves. We will, however, take all reasonable steps to ensure that disabled students are not disadvantaged in 7.10 Applications from students without formal academic qualifications may also be considered by the University. Students may have obtained the ability and knowledge to succeed on a course from professional, work or personal contexts. In such cases, the Programme Leader is able to use academic discretion to recommend an offer to study on their programme and is required to complete a Non-Standard Entry Form available from the Admissions Team. Students will still be subject to non-academic entry criteria.

7.11 Where an applicant has completed prior study, work experience or other training relevant to the course, the Programme Leader may, subject to professional body requirements, consider an applicant for advanced entry to the course. In consideration of the application, the Programme Leader will consider whether prior learning outcomes and aims, progression and accreditation requirements are met. The University's Quality Assurance and Student Office has oversight of this process and the policy on RPL may be found at:
<https://www.bolton.ac.uk/student-policy-zone/>

7.12 Some students may attend CPD or short courses at the University which are not credit-bearing. In these circumstances entry requirements may not apply. These students are still required to complete an application so that student data may be recorded and compliance
